

Result: X-rays > violet light > green light > infrared radiation > radio waves

Solution: Wavelength and energy-per-quantum are inversely proportional. Of the options listed, radio waves have the longest wavelengths, followed by infrared radiation, followed by visible light (with green having a longer wavelength than violet). Of those listed, X-rays have the shortest wavelengths.