

Reflection for Herbaceous Ornamental Module

For plants to perform their best, proper planning and care are required. We often refer to "Right Plant, Right Place" to describe understanding your plant's needs and the conditions of your site so you plant appropriately.

We also need to consider the goals for different garden spaces and how the garden is going to be used. If you have grown herbaceous ornamental plants in the past, how did you use annuals? Perennials? Could you expand the use of either in your gardens in the future? How does IPM fit in your selection of annuals and/or perennials?
